

North Carolina Outward Bound

May 7, 2009

Dear Frank and Ellen,

We were so thrilled to open the mail today and find your very generous gift of $17,550. The world would be a much better place if there were more people in the world like you!

We are truly blessed to have you as loyal benefactors of our Philadelphia Scholarship program that enables students from Community Academy to experience the power of a North Carolina Outward Bound course. These students will have the opportunity to clarify their personal values and goals and challenge themselves in new and exciting ways. They will remember the beauty and wonder of the outdoors, creating new friendships with people who come from diverse backgrounds, feeling the sense of accomplishment from going beyond their perceived limits, the value of providing service to others and appreciation for the simplicity of life. We are as excited as the Community Academy students are about their courses this summer and we look forward to sending you photos and letters from these incredible young people.

We appreciate your loyal friendship and support as you have helped us inspire many promising students to discover their potential over the years. Thank you so much for making this possible. The indefatigable spirit of Kate has been kept alive in young people like sixteen-year old CAP student, Amber Buck, who said:

I've become a stronger person inside and out. Physically, I'm more self-reliant and capable of doing and pushing myself to things I never knew I could ever do. I've learned to live off only the essential things in life. I would never have been capable of doing this without the help of your kindness.

With much gratitude,

Whitney H. Montgomery
